

WinFlex Desktop will sunset at end of 2020

WinFlex Desktop, the desktop version of WinFlex illustration software, will be sunset at the end of 2020. Life insurance products marketed through AIG distribution channels will no longer be supported in WinFlex Desktop.

Additionally, any new product releases through the end of 2020 will have limited development in WinFlex Desktop in preparation of this retirement.

As usual, illustrations for our life insurance products will be available through WinFlex Web, the web-based version of WinFlex.

We are making this change due to the low utilization of WinFlex Desktop and strong industry adoption of WinFlex Web, which offers the same look and feel as WinFlex Desktop with the following advantages:

- WinFlex Web is always updated with the latest products and changes.
- Self-service illustrations are available for more than 40 current and inforce products. Run multiple scenarios, get instant results and make immediate adjustments as needed. Find links to our flyer and other training resources at right.
- Ability to email illustrations from WinFlex Web.
