DI Retirement Security (HH750)

Learning about DI Retirement Security (DIRS) from Principal® is easy. This program profile outlines the key features you need to know about to help clients and grow your business.

How it works

DIRS helps clients continue saving for retirement in the event of the unexpected. In a nutshell, DIRS is an individual Disability Income (DI) insurance policy that directs monthly benefit payments to an irrevocable trust upon a disability. Those benefits are then invested based on your client's risk tolerance.

Trust details⁵

The trust agreement is administered by Bankers Trust Company, Des Moines, Iowa. For information regarding the funds offered, see principal.com/bankerstrust

Upon a disability, your clients determine where the benefit payments should be allocated based on their risk tolerance and preference. Benefits are then paid at retirement (age 65 or 67).

There are ways to access trust assets under certain situations⁶, such as:

- Once the benefit period has been satisfied (at retirement).
- In the event of certain financial hardships.
- If the insured has not been eligible to receive benefits for 12 consecutive months.
- Death before the end of the benefit period. If the insured is unable to claim the proceeds of the trust due to death, the proceeds are directed to the insured's estate.

Trust taxation

The chart below illustrates different ways DIRS can be funded and possible tax implications. Upon a qualifying disability, the insured receives an annual 1099 -Substitute listing interest, dividends, and capital gain distribution information. The insured also receives a quarterly statement of assets and activity in the trust.

Premiums paid by	Tax considerations	Maximum benefit amount	Minimum benefit amount
Employee with after-tax dollars	Benefits received are income tax-free. Trust earnings are taxable annually and declared on the insured's tax return, unless benefits are invested in a tax-deferred annuity.	$4,550	$1,000
Employer, but bonused to employee	Benefits received are taxable. Trust earnings are taxable annually and declared on the insured's tax return, unless benefits are invested in a tax-deferred annuity.	$4,550	$1,000
Employer	Benefits received are taxable. Trust earnings are taxable annually and declared on the insured's tax return, unless benefits are invested in a tax-deferred annuity.	$5,850	$1,000

Note: Benefit amount includes a $50/month trust administration fee.

Starting the conversation with individual clients

If you lose your income today, how will you continue to save for retirement? Everyone talks about saving for retirement and often, we wonder if we're saving enough to meet our goals. Rarely do we talk about if those plans are put on hold because of a disabling illness or injury. If your income is disrupted by a disability, your retirement goals could be in jeopardy (in addition to your savings).

Impact of a permanent disability on retirement savings at age 40

This chart is for illustrative purposes only. Assumptions: $1,625/month contributions beginning at age 30, 6% rate of return and age 65 retirement. Potential difference due to disability at age 40 without continued contributions to retirement savings.

Starting the conversation with employer clients

How are you attracting and retaining your key talent? Help stay ahead of the competition and offer ways to help employees keep their retirement plans on track in the event of the unexpected with DI Retirement Security. We make it easy and affordable with a variety of discounts and enrollment features.

You've taken the right steps and protected your income with disability insurance. But, have you considered protecting your retirement savings, as well? Your individual disability insurance benefits help maintain your standard of living, but how will you keep your retirement dreams on track? With both disability insurance and DI Retirement Security, you'll have benefits through your working years and into retirement.

When DI insurance and DIRS are purchased together, clients only have to go through the underwriting process once, which limits the paperwork.

Tip: Check out the “Alternative DI Retirement Security” report in the illustration system to help you showcase the two solutions together.
